CHAMPION. . .

George knows. Work harder, hit harder, know more, take more, give more. And wear honors lightly.

George Whiteside is class, like O. J. "Juice" Simpson is class. Younger, he is a man, George is. Older, he will be a man, George will.

Because he knows how. He knows how more than football. He knows how from life. There's no other way.

George is only beginning to pay the price for excellence. Like Jackie Robinson, great athlete, great man, dead at 52.

You want respect like Robinson. Like Simpson. Like George Whiteside. Live, man. Try.

Not all are class. That's not the point. Just so some are. So all--black, brown, white-- know some, maybe only one can make it.

You want to be somebody. Try. George Whiteside does.

NOW-NOW-NOW

It is possible that oil prices will be "rolled back" if the mood of Congress is any indicator at last week's end.

Exxon, Mobil, Shell and Texaco, four of the majors noted 1973 profit increases over 1972 ranging from 28 to 59 percent.

Assuming the Arab embargo ends, bringing foreign oil in at higher prices, voluntary cutbacks reduce consumption by a continuing 10 percent plus and production continues at peak rates in domestic oil and gas production, Congress may peg prices, pass a windfall profit tax proposed by the White House and reject rationing as an alternative. And if prices continue to rise, Congress may roll them back.

Considering rising food prices, it is an issue close to everyone's pocketbook. And it is an off-election year where new issues beyond a Watergate-weary world might be introduced.

Fund Started For Critically Burned Man

A fund has been started at Citizens National Bank for a young Cameron man who was critically burned in an accident Tuesday night.

Taken to Scott and White Hospital in Temple was William Green, nephew of the C. G. Farleys of Cameron. Green, 25, received third degree burns over 65 percent of his body when he poured paint thinner on a fire in a small wood stove.

The stove was in a small cabin on the Slavik place at Maraksville. The cabin burned down and was a total loss.

Green was at the cabin with Thomas Slavik, also of Cameron, and they had planned to cook supper on the stove when the accident happened.

Green was transferred to Brooke Hospital in San Antonio Friday morning.

Volunteers Needed For March Of Dimes

Volunteers are being sought for the Mothers March of Dimes, which will be conducted tonight (Monday) starting at 6 p.m. volunteers are asked to meet at the First National Bank at that time. Drivers are also needed for the drive.

Mrs. Meissner announced chairmen for area drives. Mrs. Florence Fikes is chairman for the Pettibone community; Mrs. Barbara Walker, Branchville; Mrs. Grace Mitchan, chairman of the business drive, which will be conducted the week of January 28.

Area Roundup

BELTON

Motorists in Bell County are cooperating so well with the 55 mile speed limit that the issuance of speeding tickets is below the average, the office of Highway Patrol Sgt. Sam Smith said last week. Most people are driving on the limit, a few down to 50 and some up to 58 or so, Patrolman Odis Fuller said, but those who have been ticketed were in the 70 or above speed range.

Jeeps Finally In Service

McGREGOR

McGregor Post Office has been assigned three new Jeeps and the red, white and blue vehicles are now in operation by the city mail carriers. The right-hand drive Jeeps arrived before Christmas, bu the Christmas rush delayed their being placed into service. Billy Joe Hamilton, local mail carrier for 28 years, says the new vehicles are a real pleasure to use, He had been averaging a walk of 15 miles a day. McGregor is one of the last areas in the nation to have Jeep mail service, Hamilton believes.

School Buses Face Gas Shortage

GEORGETOWN

The fuel shortage reared its ugle head again last week as the Georgetown schools faced the problem of inadequate supplies of gasoline to run the school buses. The schools have been running on about 3,400 gallons a month. But in December the amount was cut to 1,845 gallons, and in January the amount received from the distributor slipped to 1,800 gallons. Last summer when the school took bids, they could not get any of the local dealers to give a bid, so the schools are dealing with a distributor on a piecemeal basis.

Action Program Funded

HEARNE

The Brazos Valley Community Action Program was notified by the Governor's Committee on Aging of funding of the Title VII nutrition program for the elderly for $138,229. The program also received a grant of $37,473 to provide transportation to congregate meal sites, doctors offices, clinics, social service agencies and shopping facilities. Five vans will be used to provide this service in Robertson, Leon and Burleson Counties.

Fireworks Ban Studied

ROCKDALE

A fireworks ban within the city limits was discussed by Rockdale city councilmen last week. Several complaints about the shooting of fireworks had ben received by the aldermen and they aired the complaints at their meeting. The city's present ordinance regulating fireworks does not prohibit shooting them within the city limits, only within the "fire limits" which, generally, includes the business districts. The city attorney was instructed to prepare an amendment to the present ordinance or to draft a new ordinance prohibiting the shooting of fireworks within the city limits.

Leases Cover 51,103 Acres

GATESVILLE

Thirty-nine more oil and gas leases on Coryell County land embacing a total of 14,481 acres, were recorded in the county land embracing a total of 14,481 acres, were recorded in the county clerk's office. The latest leases upped to 51,103 the numbr of acres in this county leased for gas and oil within the last four months. A major part of the latest leasing play has been in the Evant Bee House sector, where 21 tracts have ben leased by Schlensker Drilling Corporation. The Schlensker leases cover 9,014 acres.

FHA Approves Loan For Water Supply Group

Farmers Home Administration has approved an additional $45,000 loan to Milano Water Supply Corporation in Milam County to help with the increased development cost of its water system.

FHA has loaned a total of $355,000 for extending service to additional users, as well as helping the organization to complete the project as originally planned.

Repayable in 40 years at an interest rate of 5 percent, the loan is provided under the Rural Community Facilities program administered by Farmers Home Administration, a rural credit service in the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Benefits of the program are made available without regard to race, color or national origin.

L. E. Love of Milano is president of Milano Water Supply Corporation, a nonprofit organization in Milam County.

New Scout Executive Heads New District

An active Scouter for over 40 years, John Blomshield has been named district executive in the restructured Heart O' Texas Council's Southern District which includes the area formerly known as the "Tejas District."

The new area triples the existing enrolled Scouters by combining Chisholm Trail and portion of Brazos Valley District with Tejas. These two groups include the cities of Temple and Marlin.

"This restructuring will enable us to offer better service and more opportunities to the boys," Council Executive Roy Henderson said.

Blomshield, who joined Scouting in 1932 at Big Spring where he became an Eagle Scout, has been a professional Scouter since 1951. He began his career at Uvalde and has since served in Roswell, N. M., Amarillo and Angleton.

He attended Texas A&M and Texas Tech Universities before joining the Corps of Engineers during World War II.

Blomshield and his wife, Maudie, have three sons, John, Carl and Robert; and one daughter, May Elizabeth. They reside at 317 Nugent, Temple. All individuals wishing to serve or join Scouting are urged to call Blomshield at (817) 778-4932.

Filing Open For Loans

Preapplications for business and industrial loans in Milam County may be filed with the Farmers Home Administration office in Cameron.

This announcement was made by FHA County Supervisor Henry N. Ivey who said provisions of the Rural Development Act of 1972 are now operative in the one county area.

Ivey explained that a letter of preapplication is the first step in seeking assistance under the new federal program of financing local business development. The letter should briefly explain the type of industry or business, the proposed market for goods or services, and provide an estimate of the type and number of employment opportunities to be generated.

Additional information may be secured by contacting the FHA county office, 109 W. 2nd Street, telephone 697-3582.

"If the prospective businesses meets eligibility requirements," Ivey said, "the applicant will be requested to submit a formal application."

Public bodies also are eligible for grants to finance industrial sites that will result in development of private business enterprises.

Additional information needed by applicants or lenders is available at the FHA county office.

Russians To Tackle North Pole On Skis

By Vincent Buist

MOSCOW

Reuter - For its newest Arctic exploit the Soviet Union will shun modern technology and revert to sheer muscle-power.

It plans to send men to the North Pole on skis as one of its main Arctic expeditions in 1974 to test out the physical and psychological resistance of men plodding daily against searing winds across the polar ice cap.

The expedition will make its ski run to the pole carrying its own food and supplies and without transport - although naturally if sickness, accident or other disaster emergency force of helicopters and aircraft available.

The Russians who will take the hammer and sickle to the pole on skis will set off from the northern edge of the Ieimur Peninsula, the nearest point of Soviet land to the polar circle.

But even from here, as the crow flies, it's still over a thousand miles of hard skiing to reach the pole. If the expedition sets itself a tough schedule of 30 miles a day, it will still be over a month trekking across the frozen white top of the world.

The Soviet explorers will test out new equipment and survival foods for the benefit of othere here who spend their lives working in the frozen north of Siberia - on key industrial projects - above the Arctic circle.

Many of the richest Soviet mines for precious metals and diamonds are situated in Arctic regions.

Knowledge of how men can survive in the killer climate of the north will have a spin-off in a variety of other ways, including the stategic.

The Soviet Union is showing growing interest in maintaining permanent study centers on the polar ice cap - sometimes on floating ice floes.

They have transported laser beams to the north to help study the thickness of ice floes and what makes them crack - and whether they always crack at the thickest or thinnest part.

Computers have also been despatched to help Soviet scientists studying weather, ice drift, currents and the effects of the sun's rays on the atmosphere to make instant evaluations.

With the development of long range nuclear submarine tactics the importance of men - including military and naval units - spending long periods in the polar cap is self-evident.

The Soviet Union which has vast territories inside the Arctic Circle now leads the world in the number of expeditions to the North Pole. Over a thousand have made the trek to the polar regions this century.

Survival in its most elemental form will form part of the test designed to be carried out by the ski expedition.

Writing recently in Pravda, a group of Soviet scientists who took part in a recent expedition to the edge of the polar cap said they had carried out five treks in high northern latitudes in preparation for the ski run this year.

"On instructions of scientific establishments a number of the latest articles and materials have been tested in the Arctic, various food rations have been tried out and psychophysiological investigations conducted in the region."

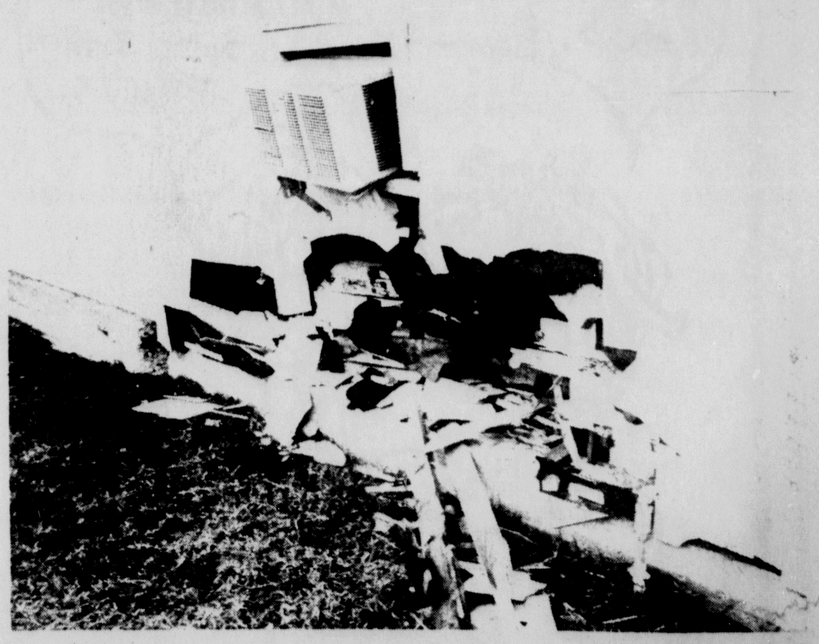
The group laid great stress on the psychological factor for survival in freezing conditions. "It is well known that in shipwreck cases the majority of people in lifeboats die in the first three days - from fear rather than hunger and thirst."

"In the sinking of the Titanic the first rescue ships arrived just three hours after the liner submerged, but there were already dead and mad persons in the boats. In this sense the experience of the treks across drifting ice may prove to be useful."

Today the Soviet Union maintains about 100 coastal and polar drifting station - more than any other power, it is claimed.

Laser beams determine the rate of movement of the ice cover.

Computers feed back information on the earth's magnetic field.



DO DROP INN -- And that's what some luckless driver did at Milam Motel, apparently jumping the curb at the Pitt Grill parking lot. Damage to the motel unit exterior was extensive.

Welcome To The Club...

The largest minority of all, women, are taking a broad civic interest in Cameron. Anywhere, more than 50 percent of the population is women.

The group organizing through the Cameron Chamber auxiliary sounds like anything but an auxiliary. The thinking is big enough to look toward state and national awards for civic improvement, anticipating another visit of Dallas Symphony, looking to improve ecology, culture and community sports programs.

The scope is large and the prospect of projects endless. As one arbiter of Milam area development would say: "Welcome to the club."

Radioactive Measure...

A modern device is being used to measure the compaction and moisture of the street base in downtown Cameron.

It is another modern device finding employ in Cameron during the final stages of paving the complete downtown urban renewal area.

Roughly calculated, about 32 linear blocks will be paved when weather permits, final concrete work is completed and paving grade is established.

The gadget which was connected to a truck labeled "radioactive" tells us that compaction and moisture content were normal.

That was before midweek rains. The moisture content, though temporary, changed.

But paving is not far off.

Title Changing...

How popularity changes titles.

The famous painting "Whistler's Mother" is really entitled: "An Arrangement In Gray and Black", according to an encyclopedia.

That's the way the painting is remembered and is probably a better name than the artists gave it.

But it is remote and more interestingly, personalized. People like to see a personal touch.

In this case, the painting may not have become famous without it.

And it fails to change the picture by changing or popularizing its name. It does enhance appreciation without altering quality.

"WATCH THAT ENERGY USE, NOW"

Czech Car Club Aids 'Plastic Tiger'

By Marcus Ferrar

PRAGUE Reuter -- When the "Plastic Tiger" refuses to spring to life with its customary cloud of blue smoke, a thriving club of Czechoslovak do-it-yourself enthusaists is ready to come to its aid.

The "Plastic Tiger" or "PVC Jaguar" is the semi-affectionate name which Czechoslovaks have given the tiny East German-built Trabant passenger car.

It is a very basic vehicle, despite its official description as a limousine. Its 600 c.c., two stroke engine belches unseemly quantities of sweet-smelling fumes, and its interior fittings are made of cheap plastic which emits a strong chemical smell.

But it is a car and it goes, and it is widely sold throughout eastern Europe.

Czechoslovak Trabant-owners have spontaneously formed their own club, which organizes rallies and technical seminars for its 7,000 members, runs its own repair-shops and stocks of spare prts, and invents new sophisticated extras to fit on the standard factory models.

In a country where almost every organized group of people has a pro-communist commitment, it is remarkable for its completely non-political character, and for its freedom from any subsidy, either from the authorities or the manufacturers.

In a country whose leaders often complain of low morale, corruption, alcoholism and pilfering at places of work, the club is also a notable example of efficiency born of individual enthusiasm.

Members, who range from university professors, doctors and lawyers to factory workers, pay a small annual membership fee.

They can then bring their car for repair to the workshops of any of the 42 Trabant branch clubs throughout the country, and can be sure of getting a better job done than in the official Trabant garages.

The mechanics are trained technicians who are club members and do the repair work as spare-time occupation for a third of the renumeration of a full-time garageman.

On payment of the equivaelent of a $7.50 deposit, members are also entitled to purchase at the branches spare parts depots. Spare parts for cars are notoriously scarce in eastern Europe, but with each Trabant branch helping each other out, members can often obtain parts in a matter of hours or days, rather than months.

The local official representatives of Trabant belong to the club themselves and look on it with a friendly eye. They recently organized a three-day training excursion to the factory at Zwickau, East Germany, for 15 of the club's technicians.

These technicians have devised an appliance which enables the Trabant driver to set his windscreen-wiper to give a single sweep automatically ever 15 or 30 seconds -- a useful facility on Muddy roads.

They have also improved the interior heating, and invented a backup light which comes on automatically as soon as the gear is engaged.

At regular intervals they obtain the use of a big sports stadium in Prague for a day for club members to bring their vehicles for a free technical check by the mechanics.

The club also prints a regular journal, gives lectures at schools, and distributes S.O.S. kits of spare parts to members for use in emergencies on long trips. It is at present negotiating with the East Germans for mutual repair facilities in each others countries.

Monthly meetings of the Prague branch are packed with members who come to listen to lectures by various experts.

Israel Nuclear Stations

By Peter Mosley

REHOVOTH, Israel Reuter -- After years of doubt and debate, Israel has finally decided to push ahead with nuclear power stations.

A recent government decision means the first station will probably be in operation about 1982, according to Prof. Israel Dostrovsky, former director-general of Israel's atomic energy commission and now president of the Weismann Institute of Science here.

While the cost of the October war could have a delaying effect, there is likely to be counter-pressure for speeding up construction plans in light of the world energy crisis.

There will be nothing revoluntionary about the design of the early plants.

Dr. Dostrovsky, Russian-born scientist and administrator, said in an interview that he expects the first reactor will be an "off-the-shelf" model bought from abroad.

The most likely choice would be the boiling water or pressuriezed water type marketed by U. S. companies, or the Canadian heavy water reactor.

Israel will build as much as possible of the anicllary equipment itself.

Dr. Dostrovsky does not expect Israel will ever go in for the "breeder" type of reacor which produces surplus fuel.

Given the present rate of research into fusion power--welding atoms together rather than splitting them as with nuclear fission -- he believes breeders could face a maximum lifetime of only 30 years before they are superseded.

The breeders are also under attack from environmentalists and others on grounds of safety.

"If one could demonstrate that we could have fusion power in 30 years, we probably would not have breeders at all," Dr. Dostrovsky said.

"They would simply have missed the bus."

Israel is conducting its own research into fusion but the bulk of this work is being done in Europe, the United States and the Soviet Union.

At present, Israel has only two nuclear reactors, small ones which Dr. Dostrovsky described as "merely research tools."

The prospect of nuclear power stations also raises the question of whether Israel will seek to twin them with desalination plants to provide pure water from the sea. The two operations can work well hand-in-hand.

But Dr. Dostrovsky does not expect the first station to be twinned in this way.

"I have recommended that we should not do it because it would mean introducing two new technologies at the same time and perhaps overtaxing our resources," he said. "Coupling in this way could also have a delaying effect.

"But perhaps the second nuclear station could be dual purpose."

Dear Sir,

We are very pleased to receive the Cameron Herald, thanks to my sisters-in-law.

Originally my husband comes from Cameron and we both enjoy reading the Herald very much, as he recognizes quite a few names that are published.

I have a sister-in-law living there now, Mrs. Irene Johnson, living on Pecan St. Between Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Clayton Finch they sent us the subscription.

Thanking you so very much we remain,

Sincerely,
Mr. & Mrs. John M. Bross

Dear Editor:

Carol Brunthaver who replaced Clarence Palmby as Assistant Secretary of Agriculture last June has urged the bakers to buy what wheat they need. If he would offer credit for half what it is worth and give them a dollar a bushel to take it, the bakers like the Russians would buy more wheat than they need.

When Brunthaver resigns Feb. 1st will Continental Grain Co. reward him with a $100,000.00 a year job like they did his predecessor Palmby for his part in the deal.

Yours sincerely
Paul Dillon

THIS 1941 Cadillac convertible was bought for $350 in 1952. Today it is priced at $7,000, and is on display at the Pate Transportation Museum.

Antique Cars Can Be New Type Of Investment

The everpresent fascination of Americans for antique automobiles has opened a potential new type of investment to profit-seekers willing to wait for a long-term gain. "It's better than a savings account," says A. M. Pate, Jr., president of Texas Refinery Corporation and executive director of the Pate Museum of Transportation southwest of Fort Worth.

Example: In 1950, Pate acquired a 1938 Cadillac V-16 limousine for $250. Now the Cadillac V-16 limousine has an appraised value of more than $10,000. Pate also has a 1941 Cadillac convertible which he purchased for $350 in 1952. It's worth $7,000 presently.

As an experienced antique car collector, Pate suggests that some cars now available stored in mint condition for future resale as a vintage antique, might return a better profit than the same money placed on deposit in a savings account or used to buy bonds, common stock, mortgages or real estate investment.

But Pate says both age and condition are keys to profit in this field. "The older a car is and the better it looks, or the more unique it has become over the years of nonuse, determine the ultimate price," he says, and that makes it more valuable now -- even though he bought it secondhand and restored it.

Pate says a 1948 Continental Mari I he picked up for $500 in 1948 now carries a price tag of $7,000. It has a V-12 engine.

Back in 1948, Pate found a 20-year-old Packard touring car for $250. With full restoration, he says, it would bring $20,000 today.

Pate became interested in collecting antique, classic, and special interest automobiles when he was a teenager in high school. His collection on exhibit at the Pate Museum of Transportation is one to be admired by everycollector. As for it's money value, it is priceless to him.

Featured are a 1938 Bentley, a 1927 Rolls-Royce, a 1924 Franklin, a 1917 Premier, a 1910 Oakland, a 1923 Buick Sport Touring, and a 1910 Oakland, a 1923 Buick Sport Touring, and a 1904 Schacht just to name a few. Among the special interest cars are a 1953 Buick Skylark, a 1958 Ford Retractible, and a 1957 Crown Imperial Limousine by Ghia. There are 35 cars on exhibit in the museum proper, and another 40 are in storage.

TJC Hires Three New Instructors

The Temple Junior College Board of Regents Monday night approved the hiring of three new staff members to instruct courses that are authorized by the Manpower Development Training Act.

Mrs. Ruth Smith, R. N., will instruct a licensed vocational nursing course; Mrs. Angelina Mayer will teach cashier checking.

The board received notice that the college will receive an additional $37,000 from the Texas Education Agency for its expanding vocational-technical program.

Board members approved expenditures of approximately $2,000 for additional equipment for allied health science classes and approximately $4,000 for the establishment of a Media Center to assist all faculty members with instruction.

President Marvin Felder reported to the board that McLennan Community College of Waco will be using a classroom at TJC one night a week for a course in nursing home administration. Felder explained that the loaning of classrooms is part of the agreement between TJC and MCC to provide a large number of health science courses for Central Texas.

Energy Cut Backs Will Cause Recreation Shifts

Today's youth is going to get the opportunity to demonstrate how deep its commitment is to turn its back on a materialistic society in the months ahead, according to a well-known Texas A&M University leisure and recreation authority.

Dr. Leslie M. Reid, head of the A&M Department of Recreation and Parks, said that "as recently as the summer of 1972, young Americans seemed in total agreement that no odds were too great to campaign under the banner of ecology for preservation of natural beauty and to clean-up a soiled, polluted world."

Reid also is a researcher with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and an educator with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"If you talked with college students, hard-core dropouts, commune members or just concerned youngsters," Reid said, "the message was essentially the same: We're being strangled in a plastic society. Who needs it?"

Reid added, "The recent interruption of oil imports from the Mid-East seems to indicate that much of the clamor for a clean environment at any cost may have been only a skin-deep commitment. Reversal of decisions on the Alaska Pipeline, on use of high-sulfur coals, planned development of oil shales, and approvals for additional oil drilling in the Santa Barbara Channel have raised hardly a ripple of opposition."

Reid noted, however, that "our crusading youth has no choice but to play the game; we are all deeply involved in a fundamental re-thinking of our basic way of life."

In any event, Reid pointed out we all may soon have a chance to experience exactly what life in a non-plastic society is like. It is becoming increasingly clear that the fuel shortage is much more severe than the inconvenience involving shortages in gasoline and fuel oil.

"There is serious concern whether enough basic petrochemicals exist for conversion to a galaxy of products. Toymakers, for example, depend heavily on oil for plastics. Phonograph records, automobile anti-freeze, polyester fabrics, auto tires and farm fertilizers are other items expected to be in short supply.

"Firms dealing in production of plastic products are already experiencing shortages as all segments of our society compete more frantically for a share of the available supply of plastic resins.

"The leisure and recreation implication of all this," Reid said "is that as non-essential products increasingly lose out in cutbacks to manufacture bare essential industrial and health-maintenance items, people will be forced to re-evaluate their leisure preferences.

"The prospect," Reid added, "is that travel for fun may be greatly reduced or eliminated, sports equipment may be no longer available, and replacement parts for expensive recreational equipment may be unobtainable."

Reid emphasized that this country badly needs a chance to analyze its recreation and leisure.

"Today, the leisure and recreation business is multi-billion dollar a year industry. It deserves protection, yet this crisis is good in that it will make us take time to determine which activities are worthwhile and useful, and which ones are diverionary and destructive in nature.

"The oil crisis can definitely be instrumental in helping Americans focus their leisure tastes and activities in areas that will be uplifting to the individual, useful to society and in balance with our energy supply," Reid continued.

"The young 'plastic'haters' may well have glimpsed the right road for us all; it's up to them and us to rationally assess the leisure choices facing us today," the recreation authority said.

Lung Association Urges

This New Year, plenty of people made a resolution to quit smoking. For those they love.

People are still trying to quit smoking for their own sake. But another dimension has crept in. More and more people are kicking the habit because others care so much. A steadily increasing stream of requests for antismoking information comes in the mail to lung associations. The information is not for the people who write in -- but for those close to them. For their friends, grandfathers, neighbors, wives, brothers, work-mates, uncles and daughters.

The message to smokers has registered: we who love you want you alive and well. That kind of concern is hard to resist.

The concern works both ways, too. Smokers are beginning to worry about the effects of their smoking on others. For example, at recent smoking withdrawal clinics conducted in a large insurance company by a lung association in Hartford, Connecticut, more than half the people who attended were afraid their smoking might be harming those around them. That was one of the reasons they wanted to quit.

Smokers have started to realize that their smoking is unpleasant and even harmful for those they live with share offices with, eat near at lunch counters, or sit next to on buses. And smokers are beginning to care how nonsmokers react. Because nonsmokers are telling them straight out.

Mutual concern is strong stuff. And social attitudes toward smoking are changing fast. To find out how you can help people you love to quit smoking or what effects your smoking might have on others, contact your lung association. And as you live and breathe, give more to Christmas Seals. They help fight cigarette smoking and the lung disease it causes.

Ceremony Unites Reese-Biggs

In a candlelight ceremony Saturday evening at the Stephenville First United Methodist Church, Miss Virginia Kay Biggs became the bride of Marcus Albert Reese. Pastor Ervie Braun of Buckholts, officiated at the double-ring ceremony. Music was provided by Miss Cindy Brown, organist, Russ Gillum and Miss Gayla Johnson, soloists.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Biggs of Midland, Texas. She is the granddaughter of Mrs. J. C. Biggs of Comanche and Mrs. W. L. Caldwell of Brownwood. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Fuchs of Rogers, and the late Wallace Reese. He is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Reese of Temple and Mrs. Fred Rae of Rogers.

The bride wore a gown of white satapeau over taffeta fashioned with a high neck and full bishop sleeves. The bodice and sleeves were enhanced with lace trim. Her chapel length veil of illusion flowed from a coil of matching lace.

Miss Sally Marshall of Odessa served as maid of honor. Miss Jolly Allen of Brownwood and Miss Tish Brally of Midland were bridal attendants. Miss Jane Fuchs, sister of the bridegroom, was the flower girl.

Serving as best man was Jose Villanueva of Terrell. Wallace Reese of Temple and Danny Reese of Temple, brothers of the bridegroom, were groomsmen.

Mrs. Bill Marshall of Odessa registered the guests. Ushers and candlelighters were James Springer of Temple, Freddy Meyers of Stephenville, and Roger Beam of Stephenville.

The reception was in the Tarleton Center. Members of the house party were Miss Penny Davis, Miss Gayla Johnson, Mrs. Wallace Reese, Mrs. Danny Reese and Miss Susan Scott.

The bridegroom's parents were hosts for the rehearsal dinner Saturday afternoon.

The bride, a 1972 graduate of Robert E. Lee High School of Midland is presently a sophomore attending Tarleton State University. She is employed as a secretary at the Tarleton Center.

'In Government' Is Program For Cameron History Club

"In Government" was the program topic for the Cameron History Club when they met Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. E. Douglas Perrin. Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. E. A. Perrin and Mrs. H. H. Stedman.

Miss Ada Margaret Smith opened the program with a discussion on the metric system of measure that is being adopted by U.S. industry, government and schools. Though confusing to most adults, Miss Smith pointed out that homemakers would probably be using the system in the future as cook books and food products are converted.

She concluded her program with a report on local government and history and activities of the Junior Historians to record information about Cameron and Milam County.

Mrs. Richard Bush presided at a brief business meeting.

Following the meeting guests toured the Perrins' home and enjoyed refreshments in the dining room where an arrangement of silk poppies and babies breath accented by a gold chalice at the side, centered the serving table.

CCC Sets Feb. Dance

The Cameron Country Club announced plans for a February 'George Washington Birthday' dance to be held Saturday, February 16, from 8:30 p.m. to 12:30.

Music will be by the popular 'Stardusters' a five member group whose repertoire ranges from waltz to polka, fox trot and country western. The dance will be open to Cameron Country Club members and their guests.

Microwave Ovens Save Energy

In a stew over the energy squeeze affecting home cooking?

"Today, many consumers turn to microwave ovens -- one of the greatest energy-savers around," Lynn Bourland said.

The home management specialist, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System, pointed out that electronic ovens cook foods in about one-fourth the time of conventional methods.

"In addition, a homemaker needs fewer utensils to prepare and serve foods. As an added bonus, the kitchen doesn't over - heat from cooking, and cleaning is cut to almost nothing."

However, like any other appliance, the microwave oven is only as efficient as the homemaker operating it. So, before buying a microwave oven, read its instructions carefully -- and make sure you can follow them, Miss Bourland advised.

Consider several factors when selecting a microwave oven.

-- First, determine how much space is available for the appliance.

"This dictates the outer measurement limits -- or the need for a model with a portable stand," the specialist added.

-- Next, what electrical power is available?

"Portables use 110 -120 volts while free-standing models require a separate 220-volt line," she added.

-- Does the consumer want a browning tray or unit?

"Special browning trays double as serving trays that keep food warm. Usually, browning units are available in the home's regular range."

-- Will the oven be used frequently for defrosting?

Automatic defrost cycles free the homemaker's time for other jobs by cutting "on" and "off" automatically, Miss Bourland said.

"For ovens without these defrost cycles, homemakers can set the timer for a few seconds, wait awhile and then manually reset the timer for a few seconds more. These short-time cycles and waiting periods defrost -- rather than cook -- foods."

-- Make sure the magnetron tube -- the most expensive replaceable part -- has a guarantee.

"Usually it's guaranteed for two years and should last about 10 years. Ownership becomes very expensive if this tube is replaced within the first few years," the specialist emphasized.

-- Is the dealer competent to service microwave equipment?

Microwave manufacturers are rewriting the cookbooks to answer needs for new timing on foods cooked in the fast microwave method.

One quick and easy receipe developed by Litton for Barbeque Franks N'Kraut. Tangy barbecue sauce is combined with the tart flavor of sauerkraut to make this simple supper "something special" with the added plus of low cost. And it is ready to eat in nine minutes.

B-Q Franks N' Kraut

1 (1 lb. 11 oz) can sauerkraut, drained
1 - 1 1/2 cups prepared barbecue sauce
1 lb. wieners

In 1 1/2 to 2 quart casserole combine sauerkraut and barbecue sauce. Reserve 3 wieners, cutting the rest into 1-inch chunks. Stir wieners into sauer kraut.

Cook, covered 5-6 minutes. Stir. Cut wieners in half and place pinwheel fashion on top of sauerkraut. Cook, covered, 2-3 minutes or until hot. Makes 4-5 servings.

Conventional preparation: Cook on top of range in 2-quart, covered saucepan for 30 minutes, placing wieners in pinwheel fashion the last 10 minutes.

Health Care Project For Elderly Discussed

An open meeting to discuss the Milam County Home Management Service Project and home-health care needs of the elderly was held Thursday at the Cameron Public Library with 21 interested citizens attending.

The meeting was dedicated to Dr. C. G. Swift in appreciation of his years of service as director of the Milam County Health Unit.

After a discussion of the needs and problems of the elderly in relation to their health needs, and the function of a home-health management service in helping to meet these needs, the Home Management Service Project of Milam County was discussed.

The project at the present time is unfunded, however the group agreed that volunteer services should be organized to assist citizens 65 years or age or older who when discharged from hospitals lack means of transportation to their homes, or who need transportation to make clinic visits as out-patients.

By February 1 a roster of volunteers will be compiled and persons needing such assistance may ask for use of the service. Dr. C. E. McIntush offered the use of his phone, 697-3901, to assist the project.

Participants at the meeting expressed a desire to have a series of workshop meetings pertaining to special health problems of the elderly and visit the Coryell County Home Management Service agency for observation.

A meeting to evaluate progress of the project will be held at an early date. Time and place to be announced later.

Volunteers who would like to assist with the project may call Mrs. Virginia Schuhsler at 697-2292 or Mrs. Pearlie Krenek at 697-3631.

Personal Mention

Bill Arthur, who underwent major surgery at Scott and White Hospital, is reported improved and is expected to return home next week.

Also at Scott and White Hospital and reported improving is B. L. Archer of Cameron.

Gain Zone Lead

Yoemen Whip Hornets

Coach Max Graham and his Cameron Yoemen avenged their earlier season loss to Gatesville by defeating the Hornets, 53-45, Friday night in Cameron. It was a battle for the first place position in the North Zone of District 12-AAA, and the 5-1 Yoemen now have it.

Gatesville's loss moved them to 4-2, and pushed them into a second place tie with Belton. Cove owns the third place bracket, and Lampasas who is yet to win a district game is at the bottom.

The game was close all the way through and the first quarter ended with the score tied at 8-8. During the second quarter the Yoemen began to take the lead, and widened it to 25-19 at the half.

Third quarter play was much the same as the second, and Cameron owned a seemingly comfortable 41-30 lead going into the final period.

However, the Hornets rallied in opening minutes with the help of charity shots from the foul line and were able to pull within 3 points of the Yoemen.

Finally Cameron, who also had many opportunities at the foul line, started taking advantage of their chances. Micheal White was the first to cash in with a one pointer, and then Troy Daniels tossed in two after scoring a basket.

The Yoemen were again out in front, and controlled the ball well to run the remaining time out.

During the battle two Yoe players had to leave the game because of the 5-foul rule. Guard John Barron who scored 6 points during the winning effort left the game near the end of the third period, and Foreward Gary Hornung who scored 5 left late in the fourth.

Ronnie Bennett was the high pointer for the Yoemen with 14, Daniels had 9, Brooks 8, Scott 6, Sapp 4, and M. White 1.

Johnny Gann led the Hornets in scoring with 17 and Haferkamp and Johnson had 9 each.

In the junior varsity game, Cameron came out on top with a 46-32 victory. James Walker led the Yoe JV in scoring with 17 points, and John Crosby led the Hornets with 16.

Cove Next...

Camerons next game will be against the Copperas Cove Bulidogs in Copperas Cove on Jan. 29.

Last time when the two teams met on January 11, Cameron came out with a 40-31 victory. However, although the score does not indicate it, the game was a tough one.

Cameron owned a 29-14 lead at halftime, but Cove came back in the second half to outscore the Yoemen, 17-11. And 11 of those Cove points came in the fourth quarter of play, while Cameron scored only one point in the final stanza.

6'7" Ronnie Bennett will again be matched up with Cove's 6'5" Ed Masokowski and the outcome of the game could rest very heavily on the performances of these two players.

Last time Bennett won the rebounding duel, pulling down 20. However, Masokowski did manage 11 points and Bennett scored 14 to lead the Yoemen.

After the Cove game, Cameron will only have one more district game. They will battle Belton in Cameron on Feb. 5. However, Cameron will play a non-zone game against Georgetown on February 1.

TWO POINTS - John Barron hits an outside shot and Gary Hornung (22) and Ronnie Bennett (44) look for the rebound in the Yoe vs. Gatesville game Friday. Cameron won, 53-45. (Photo by Mike Peck).

Yoe 7th Wins, 8th Graders Lose

The Cameron Junior High basketball teams traveled to Belton Thursday night to battle the Tiger 7th and 8th grades. The 8th grade Yoe-Yoes were defeated , 35-9, and the 7th grade came out with a 20-15 victory.

Both teams were cold on offense after a long layoff since the beginning of the Christmas holidays, but both played well defensively.

In the 7th grade game, Cameron was downed 11-7 at halftime, but came back with a 13 point second half to Belton's 4 to grab the victory.

Stephen Hollas was the high pointer for the night with 10, and Owens led Belton with 9.

Also scoring in the winning effort were Ronald Cobb with 8 points, and Edward Johnson with 2.

The win brings the 7th grade Yoe-Yoes to a 7-4 season mark.

The Yoe-Yoes next action will be against Caldwell in Cameron Monday night, and on the 31 they will begin competition in the Rockdale tournament.

No further details were available from the 8th grade coach on their game.

SKIING IN CANADA

Talk about mountains, resorts, a four or five month ski season with long runs and short lift lines and most likely you're talking about skiing somewhere in Canada, but where in Canada?

British Columbia's coastal range claims such notable ski sites as Whistler Mountain, Grouse and Seymour right at Vancouver with Gibson Pass, Hemlock Valley in the nearby Cascades. Interior areas such as the Okanagan Valley's Big White, Silver Star and Apex Alpine and Tod Mountain compete with Rossland's Red Mountain and Kimberley, Fairmont Hot Springs and Snow Valley in the Kootenays.

Alberta's Canadian Rockies feature Banff and Jasper as the main ski towns for four major areas with Banff as the operational center for the fabulous helicopter skiing in the Bugaboos, Cariboos and nearby Kananaskis Range.

Eastward to the ski city of Thunder Bay in Northwestern Ontario such lofty addresses as Mount Baldy, McKay, Norway, Loch Lomond and Candy Mountain have a familiar ring to midwestern skiers. They're all within 20 miles of town so take a week and ski 'em all. In central Ontario, Georgian Peaks, Blue Mountain and Talisman offer ski week vacations to the long distance winter visitor.

Ottawa's Gatineau Hills start with the huge Camp Fortune ski complex only 12 miles from the city center to 60 miles from town and the 1,000-vertical-foot Mont-Ste-Marie area. At varying distances in between are Vorlage, Edelweiss Valley and the newly opened Mont Cascade all near the alpine hamlet of Wakefield, Quebec.

A winter ski vacation in the fabled Québec Laurentians is an annual tradition with many senior skiers, just as they prove to be an exciting discovery for a host of newcomers every year. Mont Tremblant, Gray Rocks, Sun Valley, Mont Gabriel, Chantecler, La Reserve are only a few of the names that convey good times and great skiing on a grand scale.

Ski East means Québec Eastern Townships just north of the Vermont border or southeast of Montreal. High mountains and deep snow are Ski East trademarks and areas such as Mont Sutton, Mont Orford, Bromont, Mont Echo and Owl's Head are now known and enjoyed by skiers throughout eastern North America.

The world traveler envisions Québec City as a city of gourmet food, fine wines in an atmosphere of old world elegance. Add the huge Mont-Ste-Anne ski center only 27 miles away, or the quiet sophistication of Lac Beauport and you have a winter holiday with all the trimmings.

Your first step in planning a ski week vacation is to write Department "Ski," Canadian Government Travel Bureau, 150 Kent Street, Ottawa K1A OH6, Ontario. Specify "east" or "west" and detailed information on Canada's major ski resorts will be yours for the asking.

New Open Meetings Law Increases Violation Fine

Texas' new Open Meeting Law went into effect January 1. The new law increases fines for violation of open meetings from $100 to $500. Violators may be given a jail term of up to six months.

The same penalties apply to public officials who conspire to evade the new law by secretly meeting in groups not a quorum.

Public officials can violate the new law by discussing public business at a party.

The new law follows the notice pattern of the present law but adds a couple of kickers.

A written notice of the date, hour, place and subject of all meetings must be posted 72 hours before the meeting. In case of an emergency or urgent public necessity, which must be stated in the notice, meeting information must be posted two hours before the meeting.

The law also provides that members of the news media be notified of an emergency meeting, if the media has requested such notification.

The new law provides some closed door sessions. They include:

-- Deliberation of a grand jury.

-- Consultation of a government body with its attorney.

-- Discussion of prospective gifts if an open meeting might hinder the negotiating position.

-- Hiring or firing of an employee, unless the employee requests an open meeting.

-- School board negotiations with teacher organizations.

-- The board may also close a meeting to discuss discipline of students. But again the student can request an open meeting.

Market Report

There were 150 cattle and calves consigned to the Cameron Livestock Auction compared with 1168 last week and 250 last year. Few slaughter cows mostly 1.00 higher. Not enough feeder cattle on hand to establish market trends.

Slaughter cows utility brought 34 to 36.25, cutter 29 to 35.25. Feeder steers choice 48 to 52. Feeder heifers choice 44.25 to 48.25.

Hog receipts totaled 254 with barrows and gilts mostly 1.00 higher. Sows not tested.

US 1-3 barrows and gilts brought 42.10 to 42.70. US 2-3 brought 41.50 to 42.10.

Texas Veterinarians To Hold Convention

Dedicated to a theme of "Achieve the Impossible" with a program of continuing education, the Texas Veterinary Medical Association will hold its 61st Annual Convention Feb. 3-5 at the San Antonio Convention Center.

More than 500 doctors are expected to attend the in-depth seminars dealing with both large and small animal health and with public health programs.

OLDSTERS INCREASE

Americans 65 years old and over -- already 20 million or one-tenth of the Nation's population -- are increasing in numbers faster than the population as a whole.

Have a couple of drinks, then get into your car and drive. It may not happen tomorrow. But then it might. One thing is for certain, eventually you'll have an accident if you keep drinking and driving.
The really sad thing is that some innocent people—like your family or another driver—will probably get hurt in the process.
You've just been given another chance.
